

Annual Report, July 2024

Aryan

Year 4, Class teacher:

Personal Development and Learning This Year (Engagement, Motivation, Thinking):

Aryan is a cheerful, confident, pupil who has developed an interest within all areas of the curriculum. New to he has settled in very well and has already made good friends. He is very eager to learn and share what he knows. We have learnt a lot about Islam through his sharing and this has been wonderful. This term Aryan was one of the successful applicants and was awarded a position with the 'Tech Squad'. He needs to take his time with his work as often he rushes and the quality and presentation suffers. Aryan can be a bit chatty and I have had to speak to him on occasion about this. He has adapted and is able to follow the expectations of his new class, unfortunately this has not extended to outside of the class. Aryan struggles to play carefully and whether it is conscientious or unconscientious he seems to be the cause or involved in disputes in the playground. Aryan needs to understand that the adults and playground rules are in place for everyone to have a safe and enjoyable time. I wish him all the best for Year 5.

Leadership comment
Well done Aryan, overall this is a good report. You have settled well [REDACTED] and you have made some some good friends in the class too. In class you have demonstrated your polite and kind personality, you now need to ensure that you show the same kindness and care when outside at playtimes and lunchtimes around the school. I am sure with the skills you have developed this year you are ready for the challenge of Year 5 next year.

Parent and carer contributions are very important to us. If you wish to comment or respond to this report, please complete and return the slip on the accompanying letter by the date specified.
